If all the five members of the group are not present, the remaining members can go round without the absentee or absentees, as the case may be. The members constituting the group should inspect the internal arrangements and offer such suggestions regarding the administration of the institution as they think proper. The Committee as a whole will meet at least once a quarter, review the reports of the visiting groups and discuss the remedial measures adopted. The Superintendent of the Medical College Hospitals should attend the meetings of the Visiting Committee.

A visitors' book will be kept in the hospitals in which the recommendations of the Committee will be recorded. The Superintendent will note on the margin the action taken on each recommendation with any other remarks or explanations that he may wish to offer. The Surgeon-General will take such further action as may be seen necessary and will bring to the notice of Government any matter which he thinks sufficiently important. CALCUTTA, THE 10TH JULY 1933.

RESOLUTION—No. 1409 Mts.

Minister-in-charge: The Hon'ble Mr. K. Nazim-ud-Din, C.I.E.

When the Dacca Museum was established in 1913, it was anticipated that it might be found possible subsequently to connect it in some way with the Dacca University. The closer relationship, however, which was then contemplated, between the University and the Museum, has not been realised, and the Government of Bengal (Ministry of Education) consider that the desirability of effecting such association should now be examined and the whole position of the Museum reviewed. For this purpose they have decided to appoint a Committee to advise them generally in the matter, and particularly as to the adequacy of the present arrangements, and to make recommendations for the future organisation and development of the Museum and its relation with the University.

2. The Director-General of Archaeology in India has agreed to the appointment of Mr. K. N. Dikshit, Superintendent of Archaeological Survey, Eastern Circle, as President of the Committee, which will include two representatives each of the Dacca Museum, the Dacca University and Government and will be constituted as follows:—

(1) Mr. K. N. Dikshit, Superintendent, Archaeological Survey, Eastern Circle—President.

Government representatives.

(2) Mr. J. M. Bottomley, Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

(3) Khan Bahadur Maulvi Muhammad Musa, Principal, Islamic Intermediate College, Dacca.

Representatives of the Dacca Museum.

(4) Nawabzada Khan Bahadur K. M. Afzal.

(5) Rai Satyendra Nath Bhadra, Bahadur, Principal, Jagannath Intermediate College, Dacca.

(6) Mr. G. H. Langley, Vice-Chancellor, Dacca University.

(7) Professor R. C. Majumdar, Head of the Department of History, Dacca University.

3. The Committee will hold its sittings in Dacca only on dates to be fixed by the Secretary in consultation with the President.

ORDER—Ordered that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette and that copies be forwarded to the President of the Committee, the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, the Vice-Chancellor, Dacca University, and the Commissioner of the Dacca Division for information.

CALCUTTA, THE 12TH JULY 1933.

RESOLUTION—No. 459REGN.

Minister-in-charge: The Hon'ble Mr. K. Nazim-ud-Din, C.I.E.

Read—

Paragraph 67 of the Report of the Bengal Retrenchment Committee, 1932.

The Retrenchment Committee, which reported in 1923, recommended that registration fees should be doubled. In resolution No. 1225Mis., dated the 23rd May 1925, the Government of Bengal announced that, while accepting this recommendation in other respects, they had decided not to enhance the rate of registration fees in cases where the value of the property did not exceed Rs. 250. This exception was made so that the poorer classes might not be affected.

2. The Bengal Retrenchment Committee of 1932 have now recommended an increase of 50 per cent. in the fees leviable on these documents, as they do not consider that such an increase will cause any hardship. The Government of Bengal (Ministry of Education) have given careful consideration to this proposal. They agree with the Committee that such a measure should not cause undue hardship; at the same time it will help to reduce the amount of deficit in the provincial revenues and ultimately make more money available for constructive work. They have, therefore, decided to accept the recommendation of Retrenchment Committee and to raise the ad valorem fees by 50 per cent. in cases where the value of the property does not exceed Rs. 250. This increase will take effect from the 1st August 1933.

3. The Retrenchment Committee also recommended the abolition of about 100 offices; although a final conclusion has not yet been reached in regard to the number of offices which can be closed, the enquiries so far made indicate that it will not be possible to effect a reduction of the magnitude recommended by the Committee.

Order—Ordered that a copy of the resolution be communicated to the Inspector-General of Registration, Bengal, for information and for communication to District Registrars.

Ordered also that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Govt. of Bengal
(Ministry of Education),

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

License is hereby granted to the Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation, Limited, a company registered in England under the English Companies Acts and having its registered office in London, to supply electric energy in the area with the powers and upon the terms and conditions specified below:—

Short title.

1. This license may be cited as “The Panihati, Khardah and Titagarh Electric License, 1933.”

Interpretation.

2. The several words, terms and expressions to which by the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, or by the rules thereunder meanings are assigned shall have in this license the same respective meanings, provided that in this license:—

(a) “The Act” shall mean the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, and any statutory modifications thereof.

(b) The expression “the licensees” shall mean and include, the said Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation, Limited, and their permitted assigns.

(c) The expression “deposited map” shall mean the plan of the area of supply herein-after specified which has been deposited with the Government in pursuance of the rules under the Act, which plan is signed for the purpose of identification by the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Commerce Department and by the Agent of the licensees.

(d) The term “unit” shall mean the quantity of energy equivalent to a current of one thousand amperes flowing under an electromotive force of one volt during one hour.

(e) Unless otherwise stated, where roads are stated as the boundary of any area in this license the premises, properties or structures abutting upon either side of such roads are deemed to be within the area referred to. Where any boundary is stated to be a railway the area shall be deemed to include such part of the said railway as lies along the boundary referred to.

(f) The term “large consumer” shall mean a consumer who shall agree to take from the licensees and pay for a minimum consumption of 500,000 units of energy per annum.

1907 (as amended in 1931), and referred to therein as the second area.

Situation of generating station.

4. The generating station from which the supply will be taken is situated outside the area of supply but transformer station or transformer stations will be constructed within the area of supply.

Purpose of supply.

5. Subject to the provisions of this license and the Act and the rules thereunder, the licensees shall be entitled during the continuance of this license to supply energy within the area of supply for all purposes to—

(a) Large consumers.

(b) Small consumers.

By way of exception to section 22 of the Act, it is hereby expressly declared:—

The licensees shall not, without the previous sanction of the Local Government in writing, engage in any business other than that specially authorised by this license and other licenses held by them under the Act or essentially necessary to permit the licensees to carry out the obligations imposed by this license, the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, and the Indian Electricity Rules, 1922.

The licensees shall not be under any obligation to supply energy to any small consumer until the Local Government shall decide that the local demand in any sub-area as under-mentioned is sufficient to warrant the licensees' obligation to supply to small consumers in that sub-area and shall give notice in writing of such decision to the licensees whereupon the licensees shall be under obligation to commence supply to small consumers in that sub-area.

The area of supply specified in clause 3 above shall be deemed to be divided into such sub-areas as may from time to time be ordered by the Local Government or approved by the Local Government on the application of the licensees, and each such sub-area shall for the purposes of section 22 of the Act be deemed to be the "area of supply" referred to in that section, and the provisions of section 23 of the Act regarding undue preference shall apply as if each sub-area were covered by a separate license. Any sub-area may be formed as aforesaid either before or after any requests for supply have been received from intending small consumers. The rates, terms and conditions upon which small consumers may demand supply in each sub-area may at the discretion of the licensees differ from those in other sub-areas but shall be uniform in each sub-area. In deciding the rates, terms and conditions to be applied to each sub-area consideration shall be given to the cost of the licensees' works, proximity of the consumers' load to one of the transformer stations and to any other matters which may be considered relevant, but in no case shall the maximum rates set out in this license be exceeded.

Conditions of supply and rates to be charged.

6. Within six months from the date of the formation of a sub-area or sub-areas referred to in clause 5 hereof, the licensees shall submit to the Local Government a statement of terms and conditions which they propose to make to regulate their relations with persons who are or who intend to become consumers within such sub-area or sub-areas.

Nature of supply.

7. The supply to be given under this license shall be alternating current at a frequency of 50 complete cycles per second.

(a) For domestic and general purposes other than manufacturing, a medium pressure three phase four wire supply at a pressure of 400 volts between phases and a low pressure of 230 volts between each phase and neutral.

(b) For manufacturing purposes, up to and including 50 kilowatts connected load by a medium pressure three phase supply at a pressure of 400 volts between phases.

(c) For manufacturing purposes, over 50 kilowatts by a three phase supply at a pressure of 20,000 volts or 6,000 volts between phases.

The pressure stated above shall be as measured at consumers' terminals and shall be uniform, within the limits prescribed by the Indian Electricity Rules, 1922, throughout the area of supply.

Provided that the licensees may from time to time, with the previous consent in writing of the Government of Bengal and subject to such limitations and conditions as shall be prescribed in writing by the Government, adopt any other system of supply for the purpose of this license.

Limits of rates to be charged in respect of the supply of energy.

8. The rates to be charged by the licensees for energy supplied by them shall not exceed the following maxima, namely:—

At the following rates per month:—

(a) For lighting purposes—For any quantity up to 6 units, Rs. 6 only, and for each unit over 6 units, annas 8 only.

(b) For purposes other than lighting—Annas 4 only per unit.

(c) In the case of a method of charge approved by the Government in accordance with section 23, sub-sections (3) and (4) of the Act, the maximum rates shall be such as the Government of Bengal may fix on approving the matter.

Purchase of undertaking.

9. (a) The option of purchase given by section 7 of the Act shall be exercisable on the 20th day of October 1958, and at the end of every subsequent period of ten years during the subsistence of this license. The percentage of the value to be determined in accordance with and for the purposes of section 7 of the Act of the lands, buildings, works, materials and plant of the licensees therein mentioned to be added under the said section to such value on account of compulsory purchase, shall be 20 per cent.

(b) In accordance with section 3, sub-section (2), clause (d) (ii) of the Act, it is hereby declared that all the works within the area of supply described in clause 3 of this license shall, and that the generating station referred in clause 4 of this license to be used in connection with the undertaking shall not, form part of the undertaking for the purpose of purchase under section 5 or section 7 of the Act.

(c) After notice shall have been given as prescribed in section 7, sub-section (4) of the Act, all extensions and outlays of money debitable to the capital account of the licensees during the last two years of the period of such notice shall be subject to the previous approval of the Local Government.

Exceptions and variations from the schedule to the Act.

10. In pursuance of clause (f) of sub-section (2) of section 3 of the Act it is hereby expressly declared that—

(a) Clauses I and IV of the schedule to the Act shall be excepted from incorporation in this license.

(b) Clauses V, VI, VII, VIII and XII of the schedule to the Act shall be deemed to be excepted until the Local Government shall order or decide that the local demand for electrical energy is sufficient to warrant the observance thereof in any sub-area as provided in clause 5 and shall give notice in writing of such decision to the licensees whereupon such clauses V, VI, VII, VIII and XII of the schedule to the Act shall apply in respect of that sub-area.

(c) The following sub-clause shall be substituted for clause X, sub-clause (2), namely:—

“Within six months from the date of this license, the licensees shall give notice by public advertisement, in such a manner as shall be previously approved by the Local Government, of the method by which they propose to charge for energy supplied to consumers and the rates at which such energy will be supplied. Where the licensees have given such notice they shall not be entitled to change the method of charging or the rates at which energy will be supplied without giving notice thereof by public advertisement in the manner aforesaid and giving not less than one month's notice in writing or such shorter notice as the Local Government may deem proper of any such change to the Local Government and the local authority concerned and every consumer of energy who is supplied by them.”

Securing continuity of supply.

11. If it shall come to the knowledge of the licensees (which expression shall for the purpose of this clause and clause 12 immediately following be taken to mean and include the licensees, their employees, servants and agents and their permitted assigns) that any civil commotion or disturbance of the public peace or any strike or lockout of the nature specified in section 15 of the Trade Disputes Act, 1929, likely to result in the interruption of supply of energy from the power station or to consumers has commenced or is presently apprehended by the licensees, then the licensees or some one on their behalf shall give the District Magistrate or to a Magistrate near the licensees' power station immediate and full information with regard thereto.

12. If the licensees shall in the opinion of the Local Government have failed to give such immediate and full information as is required in clause 11 hereof or if at any time any interruption of the supply shall occur which in the opinion of the Local Government is attributable to any wilful or preventable default or neglect on the part of the licensees or if the licensees shall in the opinion of the Local Government fail to comply with any of the provisions of any of the clauses of this license or if the general direction and control of the licensees shall cease to be in the hands of British subjects, the license may be revoked.

HIGH COURT NOTICES.Original Side.

Calcutta, the 13th July 1933.

It is ordered that with effect from 15th August 1933 the amendments and additions hereinafter set forth be made and included in Chapter XXI of the Rules and Orders of the High Court, 1914 (3rd Edition, 1930):—

I. That rule 9 be amended by substituting the following for the present rule:—

Rule 9. Establishment charges of Court Receiver.—The Official Receiver shall, normally, not be allowed to make any charge on account of establishment, but if the Official Receiver is of opinion that it is necessary in the interests of an estate that he should engage durwans, sircars, or other servants he shall be at liberty to do so, but in that event he shall within seven days of any such engagement give notice to the attorneys for the parties, or to the parties themselves if appearing in person, that such engagements have been made. The notice shall contain the names of each and every servant so engaged and the purpose, and the terms, of his or their engagement. The Official Receiver shall with such notice include notice of a meeting to be held at his office (not later than 14 days from the date of the notice) when the question of the engagement of the servant or servants will be discussed.

II. That the following rules be numbered 9A, 9B, 9C and 9D and added after the said rule 9, Chapter XXI:—

Rule 9A. Meeting between Official Receiver and parties.—If at the meeting convened in accordance with the last mentioned rule it shall be decided that the employment of such servant or servants is unnecessary, the Official Receiver shall forthwith dispense with the services of the servant or servants so engaged. In the event of there being any disagreement between the Official Receiver and the parties, or should any party object to the engagement of the said servant or servants or any of them, and the Official Receiver should still be of the opinion that the retention of the servant or servants is necessary in the interests of the estate, the Official Receiver shall forthwith make an application to the Court on notice to the parties for permission to employ such servant or servants.

Rule 9B. Hearing of application.—At the hearing of the said application the Court shall determine whether the engagement of such servant or servants is necessary, and should the Court be of the opinion that the objection to the same has been made on insufficient grounds, the Court may direct that the party so objecting shall bear the costs of the application.

Rule 9C. Official Receiver to submit statement to Court.—In the event of no objection being made to the employment of the servant or servants so engaged as aforesaid, the Official Receiver shall prepare a statement for submission to the Court setting out the particulars mentioned in rule 9, and such statement shall be submitted through the Registrar to the Senior Judge on the Original Side for his confirmation of the engagement of the servant or servants.

Rule 9D. Official Receiver to pay wages out of estate unless Court otherwise directs.—The Official Receiver shall be entitled to pay out of the estate the wages and other expenses of and incidental to the engagement of the servant or servants, and also the costs of any application which may be made to the Court, unless the Court is of the opinion that the engagement of such servant or servants has been unreasonable, in which case the Court may direct that the Official Receiver shall personally bear such costs as have been incurred, and the wages of the servant or servants engaged by him.

III. That rule 10 be amended by substituting the following for the present rule:—

Rule 10. Receivers to file and pass accounts.—Every order appointing a Receiver (which shall be deemed to include the Official Receiver) shall, unless otherwise ordered, contain a direction that the Receiver do file and submit for passing half-yearly accounts in the office of the Registrar. Such accounts shall be made out as at the end of the months of June and December in every year, and shall be filed during the months of July and January, respectively. In the event of it appearing to the Court that annual accounts would be sufficient, the Court may direct that the Receiver shall file annual accounts only which shall be made up to the 31st day of December in every year and be filed in the succeeding month of January.

IV. That the following rule be numbered 10A and added after the said rule 10, Chapter XXI:—

Rule 10A. Commission chargeable on mufassal estates.—In the event of the Official Receiver being appointed the Receiver of any zemindary or other property in the mufassal, the Official Receiver shall be responsible only to the extent of the sum or sums of money actually received by him. The Official Receiver shall only be entitled to charge his commission on the sum or sums so received by him.

It is ordered that with effect from 15th August 1933 rule 18 of Chapter XXXVI of the Rules and Orders of the High Court, 1914 (3rd Edition, 1930), be amended by adding the following words at the end of the said rule:—

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 7581A.—19th July 1933.—The following amendments are made in the Departmental Examination Rules:—

1. After rule 39 in section IV add—

“39A. The rules for the Departmental Examination of Officers of the Forest Department are contained in Appendix XIX.”

2. Insert the following as Appendix XIX:—

APPENDIX XIX.

The following rules have been promulgated by the Government of Bengal under article 41 of the Forest Department Code, 7th edition:—

1. The examination will be conducted under the direction and control of the Central Examination Committee, Calcutta, as provided for in the departmental examination rules. Special papers will, however, be prepared for Forest Officers in which technical judicial terms will be avoided, and such terms substituted as bear directly on forest work.

NOTE.—The first half-yearly examination will ordinarily be held for four days commencing on the 1st Monday in May, and the second for four days commencing on the 3rd Monday in November.

2. A Forest Officer passing the above examinations will be considered to have fulfilled the condition as regards examinations in languages laid down in article 40 of the Forest Department Code for the purpose of promotion to the higher grades.

3. For the purposes of the departmental examinations of Forest Officers, “Bengali” and “Hindustani” will be regarded as “principal” languages in the Bengal Presidency. The following statement shows the language held to be “principal” in each Forest Division:—

Forest Division.	Principal language.
Sundarbans.	} Bengali.
Chittagong.
Chittagong Hill Tracts.
Darjeeling.	} Hindustani.
Kurseong.
Kalimpong.
Jalpaiguri.
Buxa.

4. Forest Officers desiring to qualify for rewards under article 43 of the Forest Department Code will be allowed to present themselves for examination by both the Lower and Higher Standards at the same time with the permission of the Conservator of Forests; an officer who passes in either of the papers will be held to have qualified for the Lower Standard, but passing marks must be obtained in both sets of papers to qualify for the Higher Standard.

5. Candidates in the language examination will be expected to possess a fair degree of facility in reading and a thorough colloquial knowledge of the language.

6. The following are the prescribed tests for the two grades of examination. There will be no prescribed text-books:—

The Higher Standard.

(a) A written translation from the vernacular into English. The paper will contain passages from an unseen official document.

(b) Viva voce examination in vernacular—

(i) The candidate will be tested in conversation with several Indians of various classes in such a manner as to satisfy the examiners of his power of making himself understood by them, and of explaining himself with clearness and sufficient propriety in the vernacular in an argument or topic of some difficulty.

(ii) The examinee will be called upon to read with fair fluency, and explain in English to the examiners, papers written by different persons in a plain running hand.

The maximum and pass marks assigned to each branch of the examination and the time allowed for the papers are subjoined:—

Subjects of examination.	Maximum marks.	Pass marks.	Time.
1	2	3	4
			H. M.
Translation from vernacular ..	20	10	2 0
Viva voce examination, Part I ..	20	10	0 15
Ditto Part II ..	10	5

The Lower Standard.

The test shall be the same as above, but the papers shall be less difficult. The proportion of marks to be obtained in order to pass and the time allowed for the papers shall be the same as for the Higher Standard above described. The principal object of this examination shall be to test the proficiency for practical purposes of the examinee in the vernacular in which he is examined.

The script prescribed for the Hindustani examination in both standards is Deva-Nagri.

7. No Indian Officer (these rules notwithstanding) shall be liable to examination in a language which is his own vernacular.

The Conservator, in submitting the lists of intending examinees, will consider each case, and on satisfying himself may exempt the candidate from examination in such language, reporting his reason for doing so to Government.

8. The examination in the Land Revenue Systems of Bengal, in Forest Law and in Forest Procedure and Accounts will be written. One paper containing not less than twelve questions will be set in each subject by the Central Examination Committee in communication with the Conservator of Forests, Bengal. The maximum and the pass marks and the time allowed in each subject are subjoined:—

Subjects of examination.	Maximum marks.	Pass marks.	Time allowed.
1	2	3	4
			Hours.
Land Revenue Systems of Bengal (without books)	200	120	3
Forest Law (without books) ..	200	120	3
Forest Procedure and Accounts (with books)	200	120	3

No oral examinations are held.

A total of 120 marks in any paper will entitle the examinee to a certificate of having passed in that subject.

The written examination in Land Revenue will comprise not less than six questions on the laws and subjects discussed in Baden Powell's "Short Account of the Land Revenue and its Administration in British India", and officers presenting themselves for examination should be acquainted generally with the contents of the work, and are expected to have acquired a detailed knowledge of them so far as they relate to this province. Officers will also be expected to have an up-to-date knowledge of Revenue Administration in Bengal which may not be obtainable from Baden Powell's small text-book prescribed, but questions which deal with matters not discussed in the text-book will be restricted to subjects in Land Revenue having a practical relation to the work of Forest Officers.

The questions in the examination in Forest Law will be based on the Forest Act rules made in Bengal under the Forest Act and the Manual of Forest Law* compiled for the use of students at the Imperial Forest College, Dehra Dun.

The examination in Procedure and Accounts will embrace the Forest Code, the Bengal Forest Manual, the Civil Service Regulations, the Civil Account Code, the Fundamental Rules and the Forest Account Code, also Introduction to Government Accounts and Audit (1930).

*(NOTE.—The latest edition of the Manual is entitled "Explanatory Notes on Forest Law".)

9. The above rules will also apply to Forest Rangers who are permitted at their option (but subject to the sanction of the Conservator) to appear at the examination mentioned in article 40 of the Forest Department Code.

The 19th July 1933.

No. 19390G.—The following draft rules making amendments in the provisions of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, having been framed by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, are published for general information under section 122 of the Code and will be finally taken into consideration by the High Court on or after the 24th August 1933:—

Draft Rules.

Order 21, Rule 43, shall read as follows:—

Where the property to be attached is moveable property, other than agricultural produce, in the possession of the judgment-debtor, the attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and, save as otherwise prescribed, the attaching officer shall keep the property in his own custody or in the custody of one of his subordinates, and shall be responsible for the due custody thereof:

Provided that when the property seized does not, in the opinion of the attaching officer, exceed twenty rupees in value or is subject to speedy and natural decay, or when the expense of keeping it in custody is likely to exceed its value, the attaching officer may sell it at once.

Add the following as Rule 63A, Order 21:—

When an attachment of moveable property ceases the Court may order the restoration of the attached property to the person in whose possession it was before the attachment.

Insert the following as Order XXIA:—

1. Every person applying to a Civil Court to attach moveable property shall, in addition to the process-fee, deposit such reasonable sum as the Court may direct, if it think necessary, for the cost of its removal to the court-house, for its custody, and, if such property is livestock, for its maintenance according to the rates prescribed in Rule 2 of this Order. If the deposit, when ordered, be not made, the attachment shall not issue. The Court may, from time to time, order the deposit of such further fees as may be necessary. In default of due payment the property shall be released from attachment.

2. The following daily rates shall be chargeable for the custody and maintenance of livestock under attachment:—

Goat and pig—Annas 2 to annas 4.

• Sheep—Annas 2 to annas 3.

Cow and bullock—Annas 6 to annas 10.

Calf—Annas 3 to annas 6.

Buffalo—Annas 8 to annas 12.

Horse—Annas 8 to annas 12.

Ass—Annas 3 to annas 5.

Poultry—Annas 2 to annas 3 pies 6.

NOTE—Although the rates indicated above are regarded as reasonable, the Courts should consider individual circumstances and the local conditions and permit deposit at reduced rates where the actual expenses are likely to fall short of the minima or maxima. If any specimen of special value in any of the above classes is seized a special rate may be fixed by the Court. If any animal not specified is attached, the Court may fix the cost as a special case.

3. When the property attached consists of agricultural implements or other articles which cannot conveniently be removed and the attaching officer does not act under the proviso to Rule 43, Order 21, he may, unless the Court has otherwise directed, leave it in the village or place where it has been attached—

(a) in the charge of the judgment-debtor or decree-holder or of some other person, provided that the judgment-debtor, decree-holder or other person enters into a bond in Form No. 15A of Appendix E to this schedule with one or more sureties for the production of the property when called for, or,

(b) in the charge of an officer of the Court, if a suitable place for its safe custody be provided and the remuneration of the officer for a period of fifteen days paid in advance.

4. If attached property (other than livestock) is not sold under the proviso to Rule 43, Order 21, or retained in the village or place where it is attached, it shall be brought to the court-house at the decree-holder's expense and delivered to the proper officer of the Court. In the event of the decree-holder failing to make his own arrangement for the removal of the property with safety, or paying the cost thereof in advance to the attaching officer, then, unless such payment has previously been made into Court, the attachment shall at once be deemed to be withdrawn and the property shall be made over to the person in whose possession it was before attachment.

5. When livestock is attached it shall not, without the special order of the Court, be brought to the Court or its compound or vicinity, but shall be left at the village or place where it was attached in the manner and on the conditions set forth in Rule 3 of this Order:

Provided that livestock shall not be left in the charge of any person under clause (a) of the said rule unless he enters into a bond for the proper care and maintenance thereof as well as for its production when called for, and that it shall not be left in charge of an officer of the Court under clause (b) of the said rule unless in addition to the requirements of the said clause provision be made for its care and maintenance.

6. When for any reason the attaching officer shall find it impossible to obtain compliance with the requirements of the preceding rule so as to entitle him to leave the attached livestock in the village or place where it was attached and no order has been made by the Court for its removal to the Court, the attaching officer shall not proceed with the attachment and no attachment shall be deemed to have been effected.

7. Whenever it shall appear to the Court that livestock under attachment are not being properly tended or maintained, the Court shall make such orders as are necessary for their care and maintenance and may if necessary direct the attachment to cease and the livestock to be returned to the person in whose possession they were when attached. The Court may order the decree-holder to pay any expenses so incurred in providing for the care and maintenance of the livestock, and may direct that any sum so paid shall be refunded to the decree-holder by any other party to the proceedings.

8. If under a special order of the Court livestock is to be conveyed to the Court, the decree-holder shall make his own arrangement for such removal, and if he fails to do so the attachment shall be withdrawn and the property made over to the person in whose possession it was before attachment.

9. Nothing in these rules shall prevent the judgment-debtor or any person claiming to be interested in attached livestock from making such arrangements for feeding, watering and tending the same as may not be inconsistent with its safe custody, or contrary to any order of the Court.

10. The Court may direct that any sums which have been legitimately expended by the attaching officer or are payable to him, if not duly deposited or paid, be recovered from the sale-proceeds of the attached property, if sold, or be paid by the person declared entitled to delivery before he receives the same. The Court may also order that any sums deposited or paid under these rules be recovered as costs of the attachment from any party to the proceedings.

11. In the event of the custodian of attached property failing, after due notice, to produce such property at the place named to the officer deputed for the purpose, or to restore it to its owner if so ordered or failing in the case of livestock to maintain and take proper care thereof, he shall be liable to be proceeded against for the enforcement of his bond in the execution proceedings.

12. When property other than livestock is brought to the Court, it shall immediately be made over to the Nazir, who shall keep it on his sole responsibility in such place as may be approved by the Court. If the property cannot from its nature or bulk be conveniently stored, or kept on the Court premises or in the personal custody of the Nazir, he may, subject to the approval of the Court, make such arrangements for its safe custody under his own supervision as may be most convenient and economical. If any premises are to be hired and persons are to be engaged for watching the property the Court shall fix the charges for the premises and the remuneration to be allowed to the persons (not being officers of the Court) in whose custody the property is kept. All such costs shall be paid into Court by the decree-holder in advance for such period as the Court may from time to time direct.

13. When attached livestock is brought to Court under special order as aforesaid it shall be immediately made over to the Nazir, who shall be responsible for its due preservation and safe custody until he delivers it up under the orders of the Court.

14. If there be a pound maintained by Government or local authority in or near the place where the Court is held, the Nazir shall, subject to the approval of the Court, be at liberty to place in it such livestock as can be properly kept there, in which case the pound keeper will be responsible for the property to the Nazir and shall receive from the Nazir the same rates for accommodation and maintenance thereof as are paid in respect of impounded cattle of the same description.

15. If there be no pound available, or, if in the opinion of the Court, it be inconvenient to lodge the attached livestock in the pound, the Nazir may keep them in his own premises, or he may entrust them to any person selected by himself and approved by the Court.

16. All costs for the keeping and maintenance of the livestock shall be paid into Court by the decree-holder in advance for not less than fifteen days at a time as often as the Court may from time to time direct. In the event of failure to pay the costs within the time fixed by the Court, the attachment shall be withdrawn and the livestock shall be at the disposal of the person in whose possession it was at the time of attachment.

17. So much of any sum deposited or paid into Court under these rules as may not be expended shall be refunded to the depositor.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Royal Commission on Agriculture in India in paragraph 292 of their report, dated 14th April, 1928, recommended the appointment of a technical Committee of experts to examine and report on the advisability of setting up a Provincial Waterways Board in Bengal. Government of Bengal accepted the recommendation and made an announcement to this effect in the Bengal Legislative Council on 20th March, 1929, and appointed a Committee of experts. One of the terms of reference was to consider the advisability of the formation of a Provincial Waterways Board. The Committee recommended that a Board of Trustees representing commercial and public opinion should be created by statute to take over the navigable waterways in Bengal from the Irrigation Department and to administer and maintain them throughout the Presidency. The Committee's detailed recommendations contained in Chapters 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 of their report were considered by Government and their decisions have been embodied in the shape of a Bill for presentation to the Bengal Legislative Council. The Bill has been modelled mainly on the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911 (Bengal Act V of 1911).

CALCUTTA ;
The 5th April, 1933.

Member-in-charge.

Notes on clauses.

Clause 1(2).—In view of the present economic situation it is not intended that the Act should come into force as soon as it is passed.

Clause 2.—Definitions—(c) Channel.—The definition is wide but the power of the Board to assume control of channels is limited by the provisions of clauses 42 and 43.

(g) Navigable channel.—It is necessary to secure that this term shall not be limited to channels navigable at all times of the year.

Clauses 4 to 7.—The Irrigation Department Committee in paragraph 112 of their report recommended that the nucleus of the Board should be—

- (1) Chairman (ex officio).
- (2) Chairman of the Port Commissioners, Calcutta.
- (3) A member elected by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.
- (4) A member elected by the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce.
- (5) and (6) Two members elected by the Bengal Legislative Council.

It is considered that of the two members to be elected by the Legislative Council one should be a Muhammadan and the other a non-Muhammadan, that instead of a member of the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce two persons should be appointed by such body or bodies as the Local Government shall from time to time nominate as representing the interest of the Indian mercantile community and that two more members should be nominated by the Local Government making the total number nine. The Board will thus be representative without being unwieldy. It is necessary that it should be limited to a size consistent with the rapid and effective disposal of business. For the reasons given by the Irrigation Department Committee, representatives of Government or of the steamer companies have not been included.

The Chairman of the Port Commissioners will be a member ex officio, but with the consent of the Port Commissioners he may appoint another person in his place.

The Chairman will be appointed by Local Government. Vide also clauses 17 to 21.

Clause 12.—The Irrigation Department Committee recommended that there should be District Committee to assist and advise and that they should also be used for the purpose of co-ordinating local efforts for other improvements such as those under the Bengal Agricultural and Sanitary Improvement Act, 1920 (Bengal Act VI of 1920). The clause follows the recommendations of the Committee except that the Vice-Chairman of the District Board and Chairmen of the Local Boards have been omitted and the Waterways Executive Engineer and one member nominated by the District Board for another member of Local Boards and Presidents of Union Boards of the district have been added.

Clauses 17 and 18.—The Committee considered that it was desirable to have a whole-time paid officer as Chairman to carry on the administration and preside over the meetings of the Board as in the case of the Calcutta Port Trust and the Calcutta Improvement Trust. Clause 18 however provides as recommended by the Committee that after the first few years of the Boards' working, during which questions of administration are likely to be numerous and difficult it will be possible, if necessary on grounds of economy, to appoint an unpaid Chairman.

Clause 33.—The object of this clause is to secure the representation of local opinion on the Board without making the Board unwieldy. Compare clauses 54 to 59. Under clause 35 members of district committees may also be made members of a Committee appointed by the Board to examine and report on particular questions.

Clause 40.—The reasons for empowering the Board to delegate by rule its powers of sanctioning estimates and making contracts up to a limit of one lakh of rupees are given in paragraph 129 of the report. Under the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, no contract involving an expenditure exceeding Rs. 1,000 may be made without the previous sanction of the Board but any such provision would cause undesirable delay where works are being carried on throughout a province. Hence the Committee recommended as preferable the procedure in force in the Public Works Department under which contracts for works are made by the Engineers responsible for their execution.

Clause 42(1).—As some of the tools and plant including dredgers, launches, boats and other craft and their equipment, now belonging to Government, must be transferred to the Board, for upkeep at its expense, provision has been made accordingly in this clause. It is an essential part of the scheme that the dredgers "Ronaldshay," "Cowley," "Burdwan", if still unsold when the Board is formed, together with the "Foyers" and "Alexandra" should be handed over to the Board as recommended in paragraph 132 of the Committee's Report. It will not be possible to have two separate dredging establishments in the province. Government will however remain responsible for the loans raised for the purchase of some of them.

Clause 42(2).—It is intended that the existing navigation works with a few minor exceptions shall be made over to the control of the Board, but it is necessary to provide for exceptions and to give the Local Government power to determine which works shall be made over.

Clause 43.—It is considered inadvisable to give the Board unrestricted powers to assume control of navigable channels. Some of these channels are of importance for purposes other than navigation and there may be reasons in particular cases for refusing sanction.

Clause 43(b).—The provisos have been inserted in view of the possibility of conflict of interests. If the Board has unrestricted power to deal with channels in the interests of navigation, occasions may arise when its action may be seriously detrimental to other interests.

Clauses 50 to 53.—In accordance with the recommendations of the Committee, works have been divided as follows:—

- (1) Maintenance works.
- (2) New works—
 - (a) Major over Rs. 10,000—
 - (i) District.
 - (ii) Other.
 - (b) Minor—
 - (i) District.
 - (ii) Other.

Government sanction will be necessary in two cases—

- (1) If the work is a major scheme estimated to cost more than one lakh of rupees.
- (2) If the work is a major scheme costing not more than one lakh and the Local Government has made an objection under clause 62.

Clauses 54 to 60.—The District Committee will have power to initiate and to express its opinion on any district scheme.

Further the proposal of the Irrigation Committee have been modified so as to make it obligatory for the Board to consult the District Committees concerned even on a major work which is not a district scheme. Thus ample provision has been made for ascertaining local opinion.

Clause 62(c).—Though the principles and procedure stated in paragraph 117 and following of the report have been embodied in the Bill, it is considered necessary to provide certain safeguards limiting the power of the Board to sanction or execute schemes in certain circumstances in view of the possibility of conflict of interests and of the importance of many of the rivers for purposes other than navigation.

Clauses 66 to 68.—In addition to contributions the only existing source of income available for the Board consists of the tolls levied under the Canals Act, 1864, and miscellaneous income from certain waterways. As pointed out by the Committee, if the Board is to perform its functions efficiently, it must have an income considerably in excess of the amount which is at present spent on the maintenance of navigation.

Further, it is only logical that the traffic using the waterways should contribute more than it does at present to their maintenance and improvement. The Committee therefore recommended that a surcharge should be imposed on the fares and freights of passengers and goods carried by the inland river steamers and that the surcharge should be at a percentage on fares and freights.

The clause provides that the tax on goods may be calculated either as a percentage on freight or at a rate according to weight, quantity or volume as may be prescribed.

Taxation on country boats using artificial or improved waterways can be levied by imposing tolls, but it is not practicable to levy any surcharge on fares and freights in the case of country boats. The only practicable method of taxing such boats otherwise than by means of tolls is by imposing licence fees as provided by clause 68. Details as to the rates, routes and class of boats cannot be laid down in the Act. But the Board will not be able to levy any licence fees without previous sanction of Government.

Clauses 71 to 85 are based on the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911.

Clause 87.—The Irrigation Department Committee proposed that the Government contribution should be Rs. 5 lakhs. This figure was based on the estimate of the present deficit on the working of navigation works. On further examination it has been found that the saving to Government as a result of transferring these works to the Board will not exceed Rs. 2,31,000. It is proposed therefore to fix the contribution for the first five years at not less than Rs. 2,31,000 and to give Government power to determine the amount of contribution after that period.

Clause 88 will enable the Port Commissioners to make voluntary contributions towards the execution of the works which will be beneficial to the Port of Calcutta.

Clauses 90 et seq.—These clauses are based on the provisions of the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911.

Clause 91.—In view of the importance of the rivers which will be under the control of the Board to the welfare of the Province it is considered desirable to insert this clause as a safeguard.

Clause 136.—Compare section 14 of the Northern India Canal and Drainage Act.

Clause 140 follows section 16 of the Canals Act, 1864.

107-L. The Collector may, at any time, correct any bona fide mistake in or omission from the valuation-roll.

Payment of cess.

107-M. Amendment of section 46
of Ben. Act
111 of 1885.

16. To section 46 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885, the following proviso shall be added, namely :—

"Provided further that this section shall not apply to a district in respect of which a valuation or re-valuation has been made under Chapter VII-A of the Cess Act, 1880, nor shall a rate be fixed under this section in respect of any land which has been so valued or re-valued".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

1. The original Cess Act was framed at a time when there was no record of the areas of tenures and holdings and even the areas of estates were only approximately known. In these circumstances the framers of the Act took the rent paid by the cultivator as the annual valuation for the calculation of cess. The system results in various anomalies, the chief of which are that valuation depends on accidental differences in the rates of rent, and on whether the land has been sub-let or not, and that the higher the rent happens to be the higher is the cess.

2. In recent years dissatisfaction with the system has been expressed frequently in the Legislative Council and Government after consulting members representing all interests have come to the conclusion that the method which should be adopted in future when any of the districts for which a record-of-rights under the Bengal Tenancy Act has been prepared is re-valued is that contained in Chapter VIIA of the Bill which represents the view of all groups who attended the Conferences at which the question of amending the Cess Act was discussed.

3. This method is fair, simple and inexpensive. It is true that it might be made still more simple and inexpensive if no lands, or if no lands which have been let to raiyats, were exempted from the cess, but in deference to the wishes expressed at the various Conferences which have been held, it has been decided to exempt from liability to cess certain kinds of lands expressly mentioned in sections 107C and 107E and to give power to exclude other lands as may be decided at the time of re-valuation according to local circumstances.

4. Opportunity has also been taken to make certain other amendments in the Cess Act. Several of these are intended to facilitate the collection of cess of rent-free lands since complaints have been received from landlords that they find difficulty in realising the cess of such lands. It is further proposed to give a rebate to holders of estates who pay their cess punctually.

P. C. MITTER,

Member-in-charge.

CALCUTTA,

The 5th July, 1933.

Notes on clauses.

Clause 6: New section 45(1).—It is proposed to give a rebate on the grounds that the holder of an estate or farmer of an estate has to pay the cess even if the amount due to him is not collected, may not be able to collect the full amount due to him and may have to incur legal expenses. This rebate will, however, be conditional on punctual payment. It is proposed also that the rate of interest should be reduced for arrear payment made within the year in which the amount fell due.

Clause 7, sub-clause (1).—The intention is to make it clear that the section does not apply to lands liable to rent but for which no rent is paid.

Sub-clause (2), proviso.—Generally rent-free lands will be deemed to form part of the estate or tenure within which they have been recorded, but the Collector will have the option of collecting the cess direct.

Clause 8: New section 51A.—Complaints have been received that the landlords find difficulty in collecting the cess of rent-free lands owing to want of information. This provision is intended to provide means to compel rent-free holders and occupants of rent-free lands to furnish all information which may reasonably be required.

Clause 9: New section 57A.—Payments will be facilitated if they can be made by money order.

Clause 11.—As the amounts to be collected are very small, it is desirable to extend the period of limitation so that in case of default suits need not be brought so frequently.

Clause 12.—Under the present Act profits earned by a new mine may escape payment of cess, as retrospective effect cannot be given to the levy of the cess. This provision will cure the defect in such cases.

Clause 14: New Chapter VIIA. New section 107A, sub-section (1) (a).—This new chapter provides for a new system of valuation based on acreage rates. The districts in Schedule G are those which are entirely covered by a record-of-rights published under the Bengal Tenancy Act—or almost entirely covered. For instance, in some of these lands may have formed which were not in existence at the time of survey and settlement of an area. It is intended that when the record-of-rights of other districts, such as Rangpur, is completed they should be added to the Schedule.

Sub-section (1) (b).—The words other than Government have been introduced owing to a change in the definition of "estate." Under the previous definition except as provided in section 40A, a tenure-holder paying cess direct to Government was regarded as the holder of an estate. This confusion will be avoided under the new system [compare 107B (8), (9) and (12)].

New section 107B, clause (11).—Under the new system the distinction between cultivating raiyats and Bengal Tenancy Act raiyats will entirely disappear. Payment of cess will be in accordance with a uniform system applicable to landlords and tenants of all grades alike and annual value of land will have no connection with rent or status. It will be the same whether the land is in possession of a zemindar or tenure-holder, raiyat or under-raiyat.

New section 107C.—Section 2 of the Act exempts all lands within a municipality from payment of cess. The general principle of this section is to exclude unculturable waste lands which are not used for any purpose and certain other lands to which the uniform acreage rates could not be suitably applied. In areas for which a record-of-rights exists and the lands have not undergone any extensive changes since the record was prepared, i.e., over 90 per cent. of the area of most districts, the classification given in the settlement record will be followed. The record shows the classes adopted after consideration of local conditions for classification of lands. It will be possible to exclude some of these classes entirely. In other cases, though the entire class cannot be excluded, certain sub-classes may have to be excluded. This can only be done by specifying particular plot numbers which will be published village by village in a list prepared under section 107E(2). The classes which consist entirely of unculturable waste lands which should be exempted cannot be specified in the Bill as different terms have been used to different districts for such classes.

As regards the areas for which no record-of-rights exists, e.g., if the lands were under water at the time of the settlement or which have undergone extensive changes since the record was prepared, e.g., where lands have been washed away and subsequently reformed, the system will be modified. The holder of lands in such areas will not be required to pay cess to their landlords for lands which are actually waste. It will obviously not be possible, however, for the Collector to survey such lands and find out which plot is waste and which cultivable, and he must have power summarily to determine the amount of cess payable by the holder of the estate. It is intended that ordinarily he will obtain returns from the holders of the estates showing the total area in existence and how much of it is cess-paying and how much cess-free. The more detailed such returns are, the more accurate will be the calculation of the cess. Provision is made in section 107Q, whereby the cess payable by the holder of the estate can be altered during the currency of a valuation if extensive changes occur—such alterations may be given retrospective effect if circumstances justify it. The new system will be advantageous to the cultivator who will not have to pay cess for unculturable waste, so long as it remains unculturable waste. It is expected, however, that the cultivator whose holding includes such lands will claim exemption from his landlord by making an application for exemption giving particulars of the area which can be verified by the landlord. It is not possible for Government to undertake to publish a list of such lands as it would entail very great recurring expense for survey and this expense would ultimately fall on the cess-payers themselves.

New section 107D.—This is one of the most important sections in the Bill. The essence of the system is that the rate should be uniform for all cess-paying lands within fairly large areas in which conditions are similar. Though some districts may be regarded as uniform throughout, most can be divided up into large tracts. Thus the Rarh in Murshidabad district and the Barind in Bogra district are clearly distinguishable from the riparian areas along the Ganges or Jamuna, but within such tracts conditions are so uniform that there will be no difficulty in fixing a uniform acreage rate. This rate will be a fair proportion of the estimated average value of the gross produce of ordinary agricultural land within the tract subject to a maximum of $\frac{1}{4}$ th of such value. This maximum will be estimated as provided in sub-section (2). The uniform acreage rate will be a fair rate determined as provided in sub-section (3) and the existing cess demand will be one of the factors to be taken into consideration in fixing that rate.

New section 107E.—Vide remarks on new section 107C.

New section 107F.—In this Chapter the word class has the special meaning given by the definition, i.e., class according to the settlement classification. Appeal will be allowed on the general principles.

New section 107H.—It is proposed to fix the maximum rate of the cess at half anna per rupee which under the new system is equivalent to the present maximum rate of one anna which consists of half anna on the cultivator's valuation assumed to be equal to the rent he pays and half anna on the rent received by the landlord.

New section 107-I.—Under the new system it will be possible for everyone to calculate the cess receivable and the cess payable by him without any aid such as a valuation roll. Nevertheless, it is desirable to give such assistance to the tax-payer as can be given without inordinate expense which would only render his burden heavier without any real gain. It is, therefore, intended that valuation rolls shall be prepared and published for estates and also, in view of the special difficulties, for rent-free lands. Where the record-of-rights is old, it would not be possible to prepare any up-to-date valuation rolls for tenures without revision of the record which would be very expensive. It is, therefore, intended merely to provide statements based on the record, which may require adjustment by landholders and tenants in accordance with subsequent changes. It is impossible to provide these statements for raiyats and under-raiyats as their holdings are continually changing owing to subdivision and amalgamation and as the number is very great. At present any riyat who has not been classed as a cess tenure-holder knows that the cess-payable by him is half anna per rupee of the rent payable. Under the new system he will have to know the area of his cess-paying lands, the acreage rate, and his rent. Where there are co-sharer landlords the cess-payable to each will be proportionate to their share in the land which is not necessarily proportionate to the rent each of them realises. Provision has, however, been made in section 107P (1) to make the landlord responsible for showing the cess demand calculated in his rent receipts. The cultivator will know which classes of land are cess-free. The village list published under section 107-J (c) will show whether any other plots not belonging to such classes have been exempted.

New section 107J.—Under the new system the necessity for obtaining returns will be dispensed with to a great extent. This will mean a considerable saving in expense to landlords. This section, however, provides that the Collector may call on the holders and occupiers to furnish information. In practice, it is expected that it will only be necessary to call for returns from holders of estates, tenures and rent-free interests whose interests have undergone changes since the last record or last re-valuation.

New section 107M.—The effect of this section is that so far as possible the holder of any interest in cess-paying land shall pay cess from his own pocket in accordance with his share in the annual value of the land and will be responsible for collecting the cess due from those subordinate to him, who in their turn will be bound to pay cess in accordance with their share in the annual value.

Sub-section (3).—Follows the existing section. Owing to the difficulty of collecting the cess of rent-free lands it is necessary that even occupiers should be liable.

New section 107Q.—Vide notes on new section 107E.

- (d) the manner in which orders made under section 6 shall be served.

Indemnity.

11. No civil or criminal proceeding shall be instituted against any person for anything in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Last year during the Budget Session of the Council a motion was carried expressing dissatisfaction at the growing number of carnivals in Calcutta and the gambling which went on therein. Complaints had also been received from the public from time to time of gambling being carried on in carnivals in Calcutta and at Howrah.

2. Government have examined the question in the light of recent experience and have found the existing law defective or inadequate in the following respects :—

(a) The powers of the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, the Corporation of Calcutta and the District Officers are very limited. The Commissioner of Police has powers only as given in sections 10A (c) and 43C of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, to prevent the commission of public nuisance and to order discontinuance of music in certain cases, but he has no power to stop the opening of carnivals and other similar places of public amusement when necessary. The Calcutta Corporation issues licence under section 391 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923, and although according to a recent ruling of the High Court it has power to refuse the grant of a licence to keep open such places in the interest of public order and morality it has no power to close them down when once started. Outside the Calcutta municipal area, no one has any power to control such places unless and until they bring themselves within the provisions relating to a "public nuisance."

(b) The penalties under the existing laws have also been found to be far from deterrent. For an offence in Calcutta under section 43 of the Calcutta Police Act the maximum penalty is Rs. 100, while the maximum penalty that may be imposed under section 391 of the Calcutta Municipal Act for starting such places without a licence is Rs. 500 and a daily fine of Rs. 100 after conviction. If there is a breach of any of the by-laws of the Corporation which relate to plan of building, ventilation, exit and entrance in such places, etc., the maximum fine is Rs. 20 and a daily fine of Rs. 10 after notice from the Corporation or after conviction.

3. Government have been advised that the simplest course for dealing with the problem would be to have a self-contained Bill relating to carnivals and other similar places of public amusement instead of having the several Acts bearing on the subject amended to that effect.

4. The Bill as drafted empowers the Local Government (i) to extend its provisions to any area in Bengal according to necessity [clause 1 (3)], (ii) to specify the places or classes of places to which it will apply (clause 3), (iii) to prohibit any particular game or class of games which in the opinion of the Local Government is not in the public interest (i.e., which may be used as means for gambling in any form) [clause 10 (2) (c) (iii)]. It empowers the Commissioner of Police and the District Magistrates to refuse a licence if there is reason to believe that the opening of such a place of public amusement is likely to lead to a breach of the peace or to cause obstruction or annoyance to the residents of the locality [clause 5 (3)]. Deterrent penalties for infringements of its provisions have been provided (clauses 7 and 8) and powers have been taken for the Commissioner of Police or the District Magistrates to close down such places in certain circumstances (clause 6).

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE JUTE CROP OF BENGAL, 1933.

[NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1930-31, the area under jute in Bengal, to which this forecast relates, represents some 86·3 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.]

The Preliminary Forecast deals only with the estimates of area sown and the condition of the crop at the time of publication of the forecast. The estimates of area are based on information received through the Collectors from the Revenue staff; also from Panchayets and Agricultural Officers.

Revision of area for 1932.—In 1932 the forecasted area was 1,633,200 acres. This has since been revised to 1,845,700 acres.

Area sown in 1933.—In Bengal, returns for the present season shew a total area of 2,168,700 acres, an increase of about 323,000 acres, or 17·5 per cent. as compared with the revised figures for 1932.

Character of the season.—Rainfall in February facilitated preparatory tillage and early sowing in certain low-land tracts of East Bengal. In March and early April there was drought and sowings were delayed. Later good rain fell and sowings progressed freely in East and North Bengal. Wet weather in the end of May and in the early part of June made weeding somewhat difficult in some low-land tracts. In West Bengal the weather was generally favourable.

Present state of the crop.—The present state may be regarded as favourable, on the whole.

Stock.—Stocks of fibre from last year's crop are reported to be small.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

APPENDIX I.

Preliminary forecast of the jute crop of Bengal, 1933.

District.	Estimated area under jute.		Whether much, little or no jute remains in the district from the crop of 1932.	Date by which the sowing of the crop generally commenced this year, and whether that date was early, normal or late.	Remarks by District Officers.
	Last year.*	This year.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Acres.	Acres.
24-Parganas ..	46,400	61,000	Some ..	End of April. Normal.	Low price of paddy and favourable condition induced cultivators to increase the area in spite of restriction propaganda. The present condition of the crop is good.
Nadla ..	27,000	36,000	Little ..	Middle of April. Early.	The increase is due to rise in price at the time of sowing. The growth of the crop has been retarded in Sadar and Ranaghat subdivisions owing to bad weather but condition of crop in other subdivisions is fair.
Murshidabad ..	14,600	21,000	Little ..	Beginning of May. Normal.	Increase due to rise in price about sowing time. Condition of the crop is fair.
Jessore ..	48,700	70,000	Some ..	End of April and beginning of May. Normal.	The increase in area is due to the fact that its cultivation is more remunerative than that of autumn paddy. Present condition of the crop is not satisfactory owing to heavy showers and insect damage.
Khulna ..	22,000	31,000	Little ..	Middle of April. Normal.	Increase is due to rise in price of jute at the time of sowing. The weather was favourable at the outset but subsequently there has been heavy rainfall causing a little damage in certain thannas. The present condition is satisfactory on the whole.
Burdwan ..	2,100	3,000	Little ..	Middle of May. Normal.	The increase in area is due to recent rise in price of jute. Present condition of the crop is fair.
Midnapore ..	5,500	5,000	Little ..	End of May. Late.	Slight decrease in area is due to low price of the crop and to the restriction propaganda. Want of rain was felt at sowing time but weather has since become favourable. Present condition of the crop is fair.
Hooghly ..	19,100	34,000	Very little ..	First week of May. Early.	The acreage figure has been revised on basis of settlement records. Present condition of the crop is good and weather favourable.
Howrah ..	4,100	4,000	Little ..	End of April. Normal.	There has been slight damage by occasional excessive rainfall. Present condition of the crop is fair.
Rajshahi ..	63,000	91,000	Little ..	March and April. Normal.	Increase in area is due to the fact that it is more profitable to grow jute than paddy. The weather is favourable and condition of the crop is good.
Dinajpur ..	50,000	59,000	Little ..	Middle of April. Early.	Increase in area is due to favourable weather during the sowing season also to slight rise of price. Slight damage was done by hailstorm in some places but the present condition of the crop is on the whole good.
Jaipalguri ..	27,600	32,000	Little ..	Latter part of April. Little late.	Increase in area is due to favourable weather at the time of sowing also to the expectation of better price of jute. There was drought at the beginning but the weather has since become favourable. Present condition of the crop is fair.
Darjeeling ..	2,300	2,000	Little ..	April. Normal	Slight decrease is due to low price of jute last year and to restriction of cultivation. Present condition of the crop is normal.
Rangpur ..	218,000	252,000	Little ..	March. Normal	There has been a substantial increase in area in comparison with last year. Weather was somewhat unfavourable during sowing time but subsequently conditions changed for the better. Present condition of the crop is fair.
Bogra ..	70,000	85,000	Very little ..	March to May. Rather late.	Increase due to a little rise in price during sowing time. Weather in March and beginning of April was not favourable but it turned favourable afterwards. There has been some damage by insect. The present condition is fair.
Pabna ..	65,000	80,000	Little ..	March in Serajganj and April in Sadar. Normal.	Favourable sowing season, considerable increase in the price of jute and expectation of a better market account for increase in area. Present condition of the crop is good on the whole.

*Revised.

District.	Estimated area under jute.		Whether much, little or no jute remains in the district from the crop of 1932.	Date by which the sowing of the crop generally commenced this year, and whether that date was early, normal or late.	Remarks by District Officers.
	Last year.*	This year.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Acres.	Acres.
Malda ..	19,400	30,000	Little ..	Middle of April. Normal.	Rise in the price of jute at sowing time accounts for the increase in area. The weather is favourable and the present condition of the crop is good.
Dacca ..	254,800	265,000	Very little ..	End of March. Late.	Increase in area is due to rise of price at sowing time. Prolonged drought caused delay in sowing but subsequently on account of favourable weather the crop is in good condition.
Mymensingh ..	474,500	560,000	Very little ..	Last week of March. Normal.	Increase due to (i) rise in the price of jute, (ii) abnormal low price of paddy. The weather was favourable at sowing time. In some part continuous rainfall retarded the growth of the crop. The present condition of the crop is, on the whole, good.
Faridpur ..	147,500	150,000	None ..	Third week of April. Late.	The growth of low land jute is not good on account of unfavourable weather conditions. High land jute is on the whole fair.
Bakarganj ..	23,900	32,000	Little ..	End of March. Late.	The increase in area is due to tendency of rise in the price of jute and the abnormally low price of paddy. The weather was not very favourable at sowing for want of rain and as such most of the crop was sown a little late. The weather was favourable afterwards and the growth is fair.
Chittagong ..	300	300	None ..	Middle of May. Normal.	The weather was favourable and the present condition is fair.
Tippera ..	170,000	183,000	Very little ..	April. Late ..	Increase in area is due to increase in price at sowing time. There was scarcity of rain at sowing time but the weather was favourable afterwards. The present condition is good.
Noakhali ..	35,400	50,000	Very little ..	April. Normal	Increase in area is due to low price of paddy and rise in the price of jute. The present condition of the crop is fair.
Total for Bengal	1,821,400	2,142,300
Cooch-Bihar ..	23,100	25,000	Little ..	April to Middle of May.	Increase is due to an expectation of better price. The weather was favourable and the present condition of the crop is good.
Tripura State ..	1,200	1,400	Little ..	Last part of April. Late.	Increase is due to the increase in the number of growers and a slight rise in prices. The weather at sowing time was not unfavourable. The present condition of the crop is fair.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BIHAR AND ORISSA.

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE JUTE CROP OF BIHAR AND ORISSA, 1933.

[NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1930-31, the area under jute in Bihar and Orissa, to which this Forecast relates, represents about 7·3 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.]

The present forecast deals only with the estimated area sown. It gives also a general survey of prospects, but makes no reference to the probable outturn either in percentage figures or in bales.

2. Acreage.—I estimate the area sown during the current and four preceding years in round numbers as follows:—

Year.				Acreage.
1929	238,000
1930	238,000
1931	148,000
1932	170,000 (Revised).
1933	190,300

3. Weather conditions.—In March light rain fell in the Santal Parganas, Cuttack, Balasore and in parts of all the jute-growing districts except Darbhanga where there was no rain. The fall was below normal everywhere. In April light to moderate rain fell in all the jute districts. The fall was above normal everywhere except Cuttack. In May rain fell in all the jute districts. The fall was moderate and above normal everywhere except Purnea where it was slightly below normal. In June rain fell in all the jute districts. The fall was light to moderate everywhere. The weather conditions are reported to be favourable in the important district of Purnea and also in other districts. Sowings are still going on in the Santal Parganas, Cuttack and Balasore.

4. District returns.—Last year's area under jute has been finally estimated at 170,000 acres. The total area under jute this year is estimated by District Officers in round number at 186,300 acres. This estimate appears to be low and in my opinion the area will not be less than 190,300 acres. The increase in comparison with last year is due to the possible expected rise in jute prices this year.

5. Condition and prospects.—The condition of the crop is fair.

6. General.—The quantity of jute which remains in the jute districts from the crops of 1932 is reported to be small except in Bhagalpur where large stocks are reported to be still in hand.

The statement below compares the estimated area under jute in this province this year with the preliminary and final figures of last year:—

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, ASSAM.

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE JUTE CROP OF ASSAM, 1933.

[NOTE.—On the average of the five years ending 1930-31, the area under jute in Assam represents 5·2 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.]

1. Season.—The weather has been generally favourable for the cultivation and the growth of the crop. Some damage by hailstorms and insects in Goalpara and by insects in Darrang and Nowgong districts have been reported. The present condition of the crop is generally fair, and a better outturn than that of last year is expected in all the jute-growing districts.

2. Area sown.—The total area under jute as estimated by the Deputy Commissioners is 120,800 acres against 127,400 acres (revised) of last year. There is an increase in area in Cachar, Sylhet, Kamrup, Sibsagar and Garo Hills, while Goalpara, Nowgong and Lakhimpur show decrease in area, the net decrease over last year's final figure being 6,600 acres.

3. Stock.—According to the reports of the Deputy Commissioners little jute remains in stock from last year's crop.

Cachar ..	200	200	300	100	..	None ..	First week of April. Early.	Increase is due to favourable weather during sowing time. The present condition of the crop is good and the outturn is expected to be better than that of the last year.
Sylhet ..	15,000	9,100	9,600	500	..	Little ..	Middle of April. Normal.	The increase in area is due to extension of cultivation in expectation of higher price than in the last year. The weather has been favourable up till now. The present condition of the crop is fair and the outturn is expected to be a little better than that of last year.
Goalpara ..	60,000	37,200	35,000	..	2,200	A small quantity remains owing to very low price.	Early and middle of April. Normal.	The decrease in area in comparison with the final is due to the low price of jute. The weather has been favourable up till now and the outturn is expected to be better than that of last year. Insects and hailstorms damaged the crop to some extent in some places of Goalpara subdivision.
Kamrup ..	28,000	21,400	21,800	400	..	A very little quantity.	Early April. Normal.	The favourable weather conditions at sowing time and improvement of price lately account for the increase in area. The indigenous cultivators are not taking up much cultivation due to low price. The weather was not quite favourable at sowing time but it has since improved. Slight damage was done to the crop by insects in places. The present condition of the crop is fair and the outturn is expected to be better than that of last year.
Sibsagar ..	400	200	300	100	..	None ..	Middle of April. Normal.	The weather continues favourable since the beginning of the season. The present condition of the crop is fair and the outturn is expected to be better than that of last year.

Resolution reviewing the reports on the working of district and local boards during the year 1931-32.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Local Self-Government Department.

CALCUTTA, THE 20th JULY 1933.

RESOLUTION—No. 4052 L.S.-G

Minister-in-charge: The Hon'ble Sir Bijoy Prasad Singh Roy, Kt.

District and local boards.—Khulna District Board was reconstituted with six additional members and Malda with three after the introduction of the elective system. The number of elected members of the 26 district boards thus rose to 446 and the total number of all members to 693. Darjeeling continued to have a nominated official Chairman, but all other boards elected their own Chairmen except Midnapore, Bankura and Mymensingh, from which that privilege had been withdrawn. The members of the Midnapore board have since petitioned for the retention of an official Chairman in view of the progress made under this system, while power has been recently restored to the Mymensingh board to elect its Chairman: but at Bankura the unofficial majority persisted, in spite of there being an official as Chairman, in misusing the revenues of the board for political purposes and the board has recently been asked to show cause against supersession. Elsewhere, except in Jessore where there was party faction, the district boards refused to allow their attention to be diverted from their proper function by communal or political prejudice.

The number of meetings held was deliberately reduced by at least two boards, Dacca and Mymensingh, in order to save travelling allowances. Both of these and the Darjeeling board held meetings only once every two months. The total number held by all boards fell from 402 to 379, of which 15 were adjourned and three failed for want of a quorum. The highest percentage of attendance was 85.8 in Nadia and the lowest 33.44 in Jessore.

The number of local boards was 84 as in the previous year, and the number of members increased by one, at Jamalpur, to 1,386. Throughout one division at least, and in parts of others, these boards have not fulfilled the hope that they would gain new vitality by being given more extensive duties under the Village Local Self-Government Act. The union boards have preferred to deal directly with district boards and the district boards have not delegated powers of supervision to the local boards, which have largely been compelled to act merely as their agents. Economic depression appears to be giving rise in some places to a belief that local boards cost more than their work justifies, and suggestions for their abolition are frequently made by conferences of union boards: but this is a far-reaching proposal on which public opinion is divided and on which Government are not at present prepared to take action.

2. Financial features.—After the persistent decline shown during the two previous years in the revenues of district boards the increase of Rs. 36,000 in their receipts to a total of Rs. 148.34 lakhs during the year under review might seem satisfactory. But this included Rs. 16,000 more under loans and Rs. 80,000 more under deposits and advances than in the previous year and Government contributions increased by over Rs. 80,000, very largely owing to advances for test relief in Pabna. Expenditure rose from Rs. 148 to Rs. 149 lakhs, chiefly under the heads "Medical and Famine Relief" and the balance standing to the credit of district boards at the end of the year fell from Rs. 16.56 lakhs to Rs. 15.5 lakhs. The only boards which did not suffer from financial embarrassment were those, like Khulna and Dinajpur, which had recently had cess revaluations. In the Rajshahi Division several boards overestimated their probable incomes from cess and found themselves unable to meet large commitments which they had in consequence undertaken. There is a tendency for district boards which after cess revaluations find their incomes largely increased to commit themselves lightly to heavy expenditure, instead of keeping ample margins to meet emergencies: and it would have been well if more boards had followed the example of Nadia which maintained a sound financial position largely owing to its foresight in keeping reserves against a shrinkage of income.

Another board with a sound financial policy was that of Midnapore which during the year cleared off all the liabilities left by the previous Swarajist administration: in place of debts to the amount of Rs. 1,15,000 and a deficit balance of Rs. 7,000, it had at the close of the year a cash balance of Rs. 37,000, as well as deposits amounting to over Rs. 46,000, after meeting in full all its normal commitments. In Noakhali, although income from cess was short of expectations by nearly Rs. 34,000, the board, by rigid economy and taking strict measures to realise arrears, showed an income of Rs. 71,860 more than the budget provision and was able to pay off old liabilities.

3. Education.—The income and expenditure amounted to Rs. 21.91 lakhs and Rs. 36.77 lakhs against Rs. 21.46 lakhs and Rs. 36 lakhs, respectively, in the previous year. The receipt from Government contribution amounted to more than Rs. 21 lakhs and the expenditure on primary education alone was Rs. 28.1 lakhs. The number of upper and lower primary schools maintained and aided by district boards increased from 49,471 to 50,380. The number of boys and girls attending these schools was about 1,372,880 and 366,568, respectively. There were 42 industrial schools maintained or aided by district boards, imparting instruction to some 1,547 pupils in various subjects including carpentry, smithy, wickerwork, dyeing and weaving.

4. Public health and medical relief.—The expenditure under this head rose by Rs. 1.3 lakhs to Rs. 34.5 lakhs, out of which Rs. 13.5 lakhs was spent on hospitals and dispensaries and Rs. 17.4 lakhs on public health work. Government grants amounted to Rs. 13.7 lakhs. The total number of dispensaries maintained and assisted rose from 952 to 968. Several boards commented on the serious decrease in private contributions to their dispensaries and one Commissioner remarked that but for Government subsidies many village dispensaries would have had to close down. Boards might do well to follow the example set by the Nadia District Board, among others, in the Presidency Division, which have made a success of the system of charging fees: the chief reason for the comparative failure of this system in other districts appears to be the lack of belief in it:

there can be no doubt that the possibilities of progress in this direction are very great. It is noticeable that in the Chittagong Division district boards appear to have a tendency to aid dispensaries by grants rather than to maintain their own dispensaries.

The work of rural health units, for which district boards receive grants from Government, was somewhat uneven. It is clear that they can be made very valuable instruments for promoting public health, but their success depends largely on the initiative and knowledge of the district health officers. In the Rajshahi Division and in Dacca district, the system was commented on most favourably. In Bakarganj a falling off in the activity of the public health staff aroused comment, and in Bogra it became apparent that no plan had been evolved before the cholera epidemic broke out for the proper use of the staff against such an epidemic. The statutory rules defining the duties of sanitary inspectors, to which reference was made in last year's resolution, were received favourably: but they cannot take the place of personal instruction and supervision by skilled sanitarians. It is worthy of mention that steps have been taken by the Public Health Department to systematise the work of the health units in the Burdwan Division and it is hoped gradually to take similar steps in other divisions. Shortage of supervising staff is the handicap.

The work of the district boards in dealing with diseases will be reviewed elsewhere: but it is convenient here to point out the contrast between the results obtained in Bogra and in Dacca, respectively. In both these districts there were serious floods and in both a cholera epidemic was therefore to be apprehended. The Dacca District Board took special measures of precaution which averted an epidemic altogether: in Bogra, for the reason already mentioned, cholera assumed epidemic form and the death roll was heavy. Local conditions were dissimilar, but differences in organisation were undoubtedly to a great extent responsible for the difference in the results obtained. Similarly as regards vaccination, the value of organisation was apparent in the systematic campaign carried out by the Malda and Rangpur boards which had fixed programmes for dealing with the whole population within a limited number of years.

The district boards of Jessore and Khulna opened public health laboratories during the year under review for the analysis of samples of food-stuffs.

5. Veterinary.—The decrease in expenditure under this head noticed during the two preceding years was checked: the expenditure actually rose from Rs. 1,67,227 to Rs. 1,73,550, but the increase is too slight to indicate any real expansion in the work done. The expenditure decreased in Burwan and Dacca Divisions: Faridpur district alone showed a decrease of Rs. 6,094, though there was no decrease in the staff employed. It is clear that no progress can be expected in this branch of the district boards' work till finances improve. The great difficulty will always be that progress is possible only by changing the whole attitude of the agriculturist towards cattle breeding. The Vice-Chairman of the Bakarganj board remarks that the problem cannot be solved unless each union board maintains a bull; the Commissioner of Rajshahi points out that it is useless to provide good sires unless the calves are properly fed, which would necessitate the growing of fodder crops; and the prevalence of scrub-bulls is a difficulty which yet remains to be solved. It is obvious that intensive propaganda is necessary: little has been done so far. Lectures and magic lantern shows were given in the Rajshahi Division, especially in fairs and public health exhibitions, and the district board of Nadia made preparations for similar work. But district boards generally regard veterinary work rather as a matter of controlling epidemics than as a means of improving the breed of cattle.

6. Civil works.—The total expenditure on civil works fell from Rs. 54 to Rs. 51·5 lakhs, out of which Rs. 29 lakhs were spent on communications. This represents a further decrease of Rs. 2 lakhs in the expenditure on communications. From all parts of the province there were complaints of the damage done by motor cars to the roads: but it is obvious that with insufficient repairs the roads must suffer disproportionate damage from motor cars. All divisions save Rajshahi contributed to the reduction. In the Burdwan Division, all the districts except Burdwan and Midnapore reduced expenditure on roads: Burdwan spent Rs. 59,600 more on road repairs than in the previous year, while in Midnapore the reduction of Rs. 19,500 under civil works represented savings on establishment. In the Preisdney Division only Khulna and Nadia did not reduce expenditure on roads: Khulna, with ample funds after cess revaluation, actually increased expenditure on repairs by Rs. 37,387 and on original works by Rs. 30,848. In the districts of the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions the decrease under repairs was general although Faridpur and Dacca both showed an increase under original works. In the Rajshahi Division moreover, though there was an increase of Rs. 25,644 in the amount spent on communications, the percentage of total expenditure represented by this item fell from 37·3 per cent. to 35·6 per cent. A serious feature was the heavy lapse of budgeted grants which, like the reduction in the budget provision, was due to a fall in the cess receipts. The hope is generally expressed that grants from the proceeds of the motor vehicles tax will prove a remedy: but the reduction in expenditure under civil works compared with 1926-27 amounts to more than Rs. 13 lakhs and the amount available from the proceeds of this tax will be a far smaller sum. It may be mentioned that in Rangpur, Bogra, Pabna and Mymensingh a great deal of work was done towards constructing and repairing roads by way of test relief.

7. Water-supply.—The expenditure on water-supply decreased by nearly half a lakh of rupees and stood at Rs. 6,29,000. Chittagong and Burdwan District Boards, which borrowed from Government Rs. 50,000 and Rs. 25,000, respectively, were the only boards to take loans at reduced interest, in the year under review, under the Government scheme started in 1929, out of the provision of Rs. 2 lakhs for the improvement of water-supply. But great activity was shown by many boards in sinking wells. In Bogra 170 tube-wells were sunk (bringing the total in the district up to over 2,000), in Nadia 98, in Midnapore 90, in Murshidabad 88, in Khulna 51 and in Mymensingh 50. In Mymensingh 103 masonry or ferro-concrete wells were constructed. Burdwan, which sank only 7 tube-wells, constructed 94 masonry wells. At least three district boards, those of the 24-Parganas, Nadia and Khulna, employed permanent staffs of workmen to keep tube-wells and pumps in proper repair: other boards would do well to imitate this example as, without some such provision, the money spent on tube-wells will be largely wasted. The Khulna District Board excavated 22 tanks while Bakarganj completed 6 and started 5: the total number of reserved tanks under the control of this board rose to 360 and there were 93 under the control of other authorities towards which the board contributed. The Malda District Board introduced a system by which the actual work of well-sinking and upkeep devolved on the union boards: and the Commissioner expresses the view that the provision made by district boards for water-supply would best be used to encourage union boards to provide water-supplies for themselves and to raise taxes for the purpose.

8. General remarks.—As already mentioned, one of the outstanding features of the year's work was the further reduction of expenditure on road-maintenance and the ever-growing danger that the road system of many districts will fall into complete dis-repair. The neglect of roads and the concentration of expenditure on other objects, particularly public health, medical relief and education, is not a policy deliberately adopted by the boards, although these three lines of activity are popular. They had practically no alternative when faced with the necessity for retrenchment. The reduction in cess receipts has placed almost all boards in a difficult position. A few have been driven to divert grants to purposes other than those for which they were specifically given, thus involving themselves in even more serious difficulties in subsequent years: but the majority, facing the problem of retrenchment bravely, were compelled to cut down their expenditure on roads. This was forced upon them by the Government policy of giving recurring grants for specific objects on the condition, to which the boards had definitely pledged themselves, that the boards would keep up a fixed standard of expenditure on these objects. For this reason they cannot cut down their outlay on public health or on medical relief or on education: they are under statutory obligations to give grants-in-aid to union boards which tax themselves, and in some districts this involves a steady expansion of expenditure: there is but little scope for retrenchment under establishment: and to economise on roads is almost the sole course open to them. In addition, while attempting to work up to the standard which qualifies for the Government grants, they have on occasion failed to reach it: and the result has been delay in obtaining the full grants while the causes of their failure are being investigated: and this again has reacted seriously on their finances. As regards the standards qualifying for the grants which meet the cost of rural health units, the question of their revision and of their temporary relaxation when the board's incomes have fallen seriously has been for some time under consideration.

On the whole the year's work was encouraging, and the district boards made commendable and often successful efforts to do the utmost possible with shrinking resources. Throughout the province, except in Bankura, their relations with the official heads of districts were most satisfactory. One Commissioner commented on the steady growth of an appreciation of the principles of local self-government and another on the proof afforded by recent elections of a growing distaste for mixing politics with administration. Government desire to record their appreciation of the good work done by the boards in trying circumstances and in particular to thank the following gentlemen who have been particularly mentioned as having done good service:—

Smoke and public health.

The advance of knowledge on the subject of the evils of Smoke Nuisances and the corresponding improvement on the health of the people have been accompanied of late years by a growing general interest in the abatement of smoke nuisance. The developments of even the last 10 or 15 years afford striking object lessons of further advantages which are quite within reach, and which can be brought about with but little trouble and little outlay. In the general decline of sickness and mortality, which is a characteristic of Calcutta and suburbs during the last 15 years, the diminution of forms of respiratory disease attributable to impurity of the atmosphere, is among the most conspicuous. This encouraging fact is a stimulus to all who are interested in the abatement of the smoke nuisance. We must recollect that the injury done to health by smoke is not limited to the pollution of the air with carbon; indirectly it leads to another mischief, for it is common knowledge that the careful housewife will close the windows to exclude the smoke and snouts, and her household will incur, as a result, all the objectionable consequences of unventilated rooms.

It is singular how much greater regard a man has for his stomach than for his lungs. He would resent the possibility of the introduction of unclean food three times a day into his stomach, but the introduction of unclean air sixteen times a minute into his lungs is submitted to without complaint.

It is in the general public interest that information should be diffused not only amongst manufacturers and engineers, etc., but among all who use furnaces and smoke-producing apparatus. This knowledge must awaken a great interest in the subject, and lead to greater care and attention on the part of the people responsible.

Smoke and its prevention.

When a column of dense black smoke is seen to issue from a chimney and continues rising for a considerable length of time, the Inspector is witnessing a wastage of fuel which is avoidable and is due either to carelessness or to ignorance. Smoke is the unburned, volatilized product of combustion of coal, wood, gas, oil or other fuels. In the broader sense of the word it is often thought of as any dirt-forming substance issuing from a chimney through which the products of combustion are carried to the atmosphere. Chimneys send out not only smoke but also very small particles of fuel or ash which, while not necessarily as black or greasy as smoke, are very undesirable.

Everyone is willing to condemn smoke as an unnecessary, uneconomical, and unhealthful product of combustion, and therefore should assist the Commission in its prevention or reduction. The proper use of coal is important. Smoke is one of the most noticeable and objectionable results of its improper use. A substantial reduction in the amount of smoke produced, for reasons of economy and health, should be the aim of all who use this commodity.

The greater part of the coal used for industrial furnaces is for the purpose of steam raising, and the commonest factors tending to produce smoke in an ordinary coal-burning boiler plant are:—

- (1) The use of too much or too little draught.
- (2) Air entering through leaky settings instead of by way of the furnace only, that is, either through or over the fire.
- (3) Careless and irregular firing.
- (4) Insufficient boiler plant which makes it necessary to force the fires to meet peak loads.

It is impossible to state definitely in what order of frequency these factors exist, and in many cases it will be found that they are all present in varying degrees. While these figures are given only as an example, it is interesting to note that in 66 smoke offences reported during the year the causes were classified as follows:—

Insufficient draught	27
Neglect or careless firing	24
Unduly restricted draught	9
Insufficient furnaces at work	4
Defective flues	2

The remedies are obvious, and put in a form which should, but too frequently does not, receive the attention of the management, are:—

- (1) To provide, whenever possible, steam raising plant that will easily meet the maximum demand that is likely to be put upon it.
- (2) To keep all plants in good repair.
- (3) To ascertain the most suitable fuel and to adhere constantly to it.
- (4) To realize how much depends on the firemen, when hand firing is used, and that even, with mechanical stoking a great deal rest with the individual in charge, and therefore to employ skilled men.

The remedies are there, but a visit to some of the concerns will immediately show that they are not acted upon, and yet it will not be denied that if they were considered, smoke from steam raising processes would be reduced to negligible proportions. It shows that under normal conditions, and with proper and careful firing, either mechanical or by hand, little or no smoke need be produced by boiler furnaces, and that in many cases it would be quite practicable, without undue expenditure, very largely to reduce the amount of smoke at present emitted.

Methods of hand-firing.

(a) Uniform or spreading firing.—This is the most common method of firing boilers, since it gives the firemen the least trouble. As usually practised, it gives rise to much smoke production, for the raw fuel is spread thickly or thinly, as the case may be, all over the surface of the glowing coke lying on the bars of the grate, and a great volume of hydro-carbon gases is given off suddenly, the greater portion of which escapes entirely unconsumed or only partially burnt.

(b) Side or ribbon firing.—Is a variation of the spreading system of firing, in which only one-half of the length of the grate is covered with the raw fuel. It is an improvement on the spreading system, since only one-half of the volume of the hydro-carbon gases are liberated at each firing, and these have a much better opportunity of becoming mixed with sufficient amount of air, and of attaining the temperature required for their perfect combustion.

(c) Alternate furnace firing.—This is another variation of the spreading system, in which first the right-hand and secondly the left-hand furnace of any ordinary Lancashire boiler is fired. It is better than the spreading system as ordinarily carried out, but not so good as the ribbon or side-system of firing. With all systems of hand-firing it is of the highest importance that the grate should be kept covered with the fuel, and that the passage of air between the bars should not be hindered or stopped entirely, by accumulation of ash or of clinker. The great inrush of cold air during the cleaning of the fires and firing ought also to be stopped or checked by use of the ash-pit and boiler-flue dampers.

Rules for hand-firing.

(1) Fire a little at a time, and as often as possible, on the ribbon or side principle. Close the ash-pit door or damper, and partially close the drop-flue damper while firing or cleaning the fires, in order to lessen the inrush of cold air.

(2) Begin firing at the bridge end, and keep a uniform thickness of fresh fuel to within a few inches of the furnace door. The fires should be kept rather thicker at the sides, and at the bridge end of the furnace.

(3) The thickness of the fires must be varied to suit the type of fuel, and also the pull or draught. When the best thickness has once been discovered by actual trial, it must be kept to. Too thin fires lead to excessive air supply through the patches which burn thin, and to loss of unconsumed hydro-carbon gases, due to insufficient temperature to ignite them when fresh fuel is charged. Too thick fires lead to the formation of carbon monoxide gas, and to a similar loss of unburned hydro-carbon gases, owing to insufficient air supply. Four to five inches of fuel on the grate is the lowest thickness advisable with bituminous fuels.

(4) After firing or raking the fires, the grids in the furnace doors (or the doors themselves) should be opened for a short time, to admit the air required to burn the hydro-carbon gases which are being liberated from the fuel.

(5) Lump coal should be broken to a uniform size of 3" diameter before being fired, and yields best results when mixed with a well-screened slack to fill up the interstices. Very fine dry and dusty coal may be sprinkled with water to lessen the losses due to the fine particles which would otherwise be carried away by the draught into the flues and chimney.

The average emission from each factory chimney during the year was 0.8 minutes of dense black smoke per hour, and means that the total black smoke has been reduced by about 900 minutes. In 1906 the daily emission of black smoke was about 200,000 minutes. It is now about 3,100 minutes.

Domestic smoke.

The Commission again considered the proposal as to how the domestic smoke, which is not controlled by the Act, can be abated. They adopted the following measures:—

- (1) Printed copies of illustrated instructions were forwarded to the Health Officer of the Corporation of Calcutta for distribution to the people through the Ward Health Associations of the Corporation,
- (2) several other instructions were broadcasted for the guidance of the public, and
- (3) arrangements are also being made with the cinema authorities to show on the screen during the intervals the evils of smoke and how to abate it.

Brick-fields.

The smoke nuisance caused by the brick-fields in the Tollygunge area gave rise to many complaints from the residents of the locality. The system under which these brick kilns work, was considered to be very difficult to control under the Act, as bricks are burnt in sections in circular trenches with short chimneys put up. When the bricks in one trench are ready, the chimney is removed to the next section and so on, until all the contents of the kiln are completed. As the brick kilns cannot therefore have fixed high chimneys, the smoke nuisance could not be dealt with unless the kilns were removed from the locality. In the interest of public health and to avoid further complaints from the public, Government, at the request of the Commission, have issued a notification in November 1932 prohibiting the erection or use of brick kilns within the local limits of the South Suburban Municipality, unless such kilns are provided with chimneys approved by the Commission and are not less than 100 feet high.

The Chairman has been requested to warn the owners of the brick kilns that if the kilns are worked on or after 1st April 1934, with chimneys which are not of approved pattern, legal proceedings will be taken against them without any further reference.

Detecting excessive smoke.

The smoke from as many factories, steamers, etc., as can be seen, is observed from the Central Smoke Observatory, which is fitted with a telephone and situated on the top of a high building. The others are observed from the districts.

During the year 3,044 offences were reported against 4,864 for the previous year. Telephonic communications at the time of the offences committed were 1,425 against 1,991. Inspections and tests for educational purposes were 6,300 against 15,135. Statutory warnings were served in 16 cases against 7 for last year. The Commission, like other modern Smoke Departments, is convinced, on the long view, that a broad educational and co-operative policy in the skilled work of smoke abatement gives the best results. Further improvements could be effected if the smoke observations from the Observatory were made by Smoke Observers instead of the Inspectors, as in other modern Smoke Departments, so as to give the Inspectors more time to discharge the engineering duties of inspection at the plants, etc. But present financial stringency prevents this.

Publicity.

In collaboration with the Oriental Gas Company and the Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation, the Commission controlled a section in the Calcutta Health Welfare Week Exhibition of which Lady Birkmyre is the President. The exhibits showed the effects of the smoke nuisance and air pollution in the local respiratory mortality poisoning food supplies, the effects on trees, buildings and distant localities and smokeless gas and electrical appliances for cooking and all other domestic purposes. The section was well patronised by the public.

During the year there were held at Jannshedpur two Health Exhibitions organised by the Tata Iron & Steel Co., Ltd., and the Commission, at their request, exhibited its charts and photographs as to the damages caused by smoke and their remedies. These exhibits were appreciated by the people there.

Complaints from the public.

The public are apparently appreciating the relief that is being experienced in the mitigation of the smoke nuisance, as complaints are quickly made when a nuisance occurs, and have received prompt attention. The Commission hopes that the general public will continue to show their confidence in the work of the Commission by reporting smoke nuisances whenever experienced.

During the year 59 complaints were received against 78 for the last year. Many of the complaints were against domestic smoke, regarding which, as it is exempted, no action can be taken under the Act.

Prosecutions.

A statement of the prosecutions undertaken is given below. There were in all 10 cases during the year, convictions and fines being obtained in 9 cases. The maximum fine was Rs. 125 and the minimum Rs. 8.

General control by the Commission.

The Commission which represents all the interests concerned, held 13 meetings. The object of its endeavours is to render ever-improving service to the public. It kept in touch with the Smoke Departments and Fuel and Research Institutions in Europe and America and abreast of the latest progress in the scientific use of fuel and the scientific abatement of industrial and domestic smoke.

According to the recommendations of the Bengal Retrenchment Committee, the amount of fees of the members of the Commission for attending meetings was reduced from Rs. 32 to Rs. 20 for each member.

Installations approved by the Commission.

Scientific smoke abatement and economy require balanced plants. It would be unsatisfactory in a boiler plant where the boilers are large enough, if the draught is insufficient to take the required work from the boiler and it would be as unsatisfactory where the draught is ample, if the boiler is too small to produce the required steam. Properly proportioned furnaces, flues and chimneys are the basic factors for efficient smoke abatement, increasing the power of the plant and reducing the overhead and fuel expenses. Under the Act new plants installed or alterations made to the old must be approved by the Commission.

During the year the Commission examined and approved 88 plans, of which 79 were made in the office of the Commission, covering nearly all types of industrial furnaces. All were granted permission to construct.

Reduction of smoke nuisance by electric appliances.

The Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation have greatly assisted the smoke abatement campaign by means of an intensive propaganda for the further use of electricity, both in the domestic and industrial fields.

As a result of their activities during the year, the number of electric consumers has been increased by 4,806, whilst an additional 780 heating and cooking circuits have been connected to the Company's mains.

The total number of motors connected during the year was 786 representing 5,056 horse power and it is of interest to note that 27 complete works have been electrified which were previously using coal-fired boilers.

At the close of the year the Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation again reduced their rates for the supply of energy to large industrial consumers and it is hoped that this will result in a number of large workers being converted during the next 12 months as well as being the means of encouraging the starting up of a number of new industries which might otherwise have been potential coal-fuel burners.

Gas is forging ahead.

Smokeless gas appliances are important factors in abating the deadly low-lying domestic and kindred smoke. There continues to be a steady demand in the cities of Calcutta and Howrah for gas-heated appliances for domestic, cooking and water-heating purposes, and also a fair amount of business in connection with industrial work. Compared with the cheapest of solid or liquid fuels its advantages from a health point of view alone make it preferable and for cooking and heating its supremacy cannot be successfully challenged. To improve public health, therefore, it is essential that Calcutta and Howrah should greatly extend the use of gas in domestic and kindred fire-places.

During the year 641 appliances were fitted.

Conclusion.

The Commission records its grateful thanks to the Smoke Departments, Fuel and Engineering Research Institutions and the technical and local press for the assistance so freely rendered; to the local owners, managers, and engineers without whose valuable assistance efficient progress would not have been made; and to the technical staff for its ability and loyalty in carrying out the policy of the Commission.

R. GRANT,

Chief Inspector and Secretary.

H. J. TWYNAM,

President.
